COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Modern methods of snow removal have demanded the use of a one-way plow in preference to the V-type. The one-way works to a better advantage for small storms or even in more severe storms if the plow is started out when there is not over two inches of snow already fallen. V-plows will work to a better advantage on back roads in case of a heavy snowfall or drifting conditions.

This past week a new Frink plow has been purchased to be used in place of the V-plow on the Chevrolet-Coleman truck. The V-plow will be retained for use under severe conditions and as a spare in case of breakdown of one of the other plows. The plow is being paid for out of truck rental account. The funds in this account are earned by the use of the town equipment for snow removal as well as all other highway work.

The books closed on Dec. 31st with all bills paid. The cash balance on hand as of this date is $31,988.78. There is $18,686.54 in unpaid taxes. Some of which have already come in and more is anticipated within the next 10 days.

Next week I will be in a position to furnish information on the standing of the more important appropriation accounts.

Work has already started on the town report and several pages have been placed in the hands of our local printer.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Stanley Gallant took Polaroid pictures of the festivities, which will be displayed at the fire house. Acting Chief Addison Saunders addressed the group and predicted a year of fun, effort and activity.

EMPLOYERS REMINDED W-2 FORMS MUST BE FURNISHED THIS MONTH

Employers and employees in the Augusta District of the Internal Revenue Service are reminded by Director Whitney L. Spear of Rumford, and Wheeler of the importance of the W-2 withholding certificate in the proper filing of 1957 Federal income tax returns.

Employers, to points out, are obligated by law to furnish copies of this form to their employees by Jan. 31. Employees in turn, must attach the requisite copy of the W-2 to their Form 1040 or 1040-A when filing.

Mr. Wheeler urges employers to prepare their returns as soon as they receive their withholding certificates and to file them as soon as possible thereafter. Larger employers can help by providing their workers with the W-2 form before the deadline date.

Director Wheeler also reminded employers who have worked for more than one concern during 1957 that all of the W-2s they received during the year must be included with the 1957 income tax return.

In case of couples filing jointly, each of whom was employed during the year, care should be taken that all W-2s are attached and any changes of jobs indicated.

While the April 15 deadline still is in effect, early filing would prove advantageous both to the taxpayers and to the government, Mr. Wheeler indicated.

Special recognition for outstanding service to boys will be given to two commissioners and a Scoutmaster in the form of two Scouter's Keys and one Scouter's Award.

One Commissioner's Arrowhead, for completion of the commissioners' Arrowhead Training project will be presented.

A special entertainment feature will be a presentation by Clinton E. Russ, our Scout Executive, on his recent trip to the Jubilee Jambooree in Europe.

Serving as a sort of salute to the State's second largest agricultural industry, Potato Week will feature stories in Maine newspapers and programs on the State's radio and television stations. Also cooperating in the campaign will be Maine grocery stores, restaurants, and hotels who will offer special displays and dishes of this most famous of all vegetables from the Pine Tree State.

The all-day meeting will be held in the Bangor House starting with a Directors' Luncheon at noon and followed by the Annual Business Meeting at 2:00 P. M.

The theme of the afternoon meeting will be "Maine's bid to attract more business through Hospitality."

West Paris Organizes Town Government at Special Meeting Jan. 2

The first meeting of the new town of West Paris was held last Thursday evening with about 200 citizens present. The meeting was called to order by Ruth C. Reid, Justice of the peace, and Clarence Coffin was elected moderator.

Officers elected were: Clerk and collector, Marie Hibler; treasurer, Charles Gordon; selectmen, first, Verner Smith, second, Clarence Coffin, third, Hugo Heiliden; school board, Donald Hinkley, Eli Ellington, and Lee Abbott; road commissioner, Verner Smith.

Salaries fixed for officers until the March meeting were: Clerk, $1.50; collector, one and a half percent of collections; selectmen, $1.50 per hour; treasurer, $15; school board, $22 each; road commissioner, $1.50 per hour.

The Selectmen were authorized to procure a temporary loan of not more than $15,000 to meet town obligations until the March meeting. It was also voted to have town employees participate in Social Security benefits, raising $300 for this purpose, and $300 was also voted to cover employees in a group life insurance plan. A budget and planning committee was authorized to consist of not less than five or more than nine members.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Greenleaf funeral home, Rev. Dwight McManamon officiating. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery in the spring.

DR. EASTON TO ADDRESS PTA ON FLUORIDATION

A large attendance is anticipated at the joint meeting of the Bethel Parent-Teachers Association and the Bethel Health and Service Council to be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the Crescent Park School.

Several matters of extreme importance will be discussed, and it is hoped that anyone interested will be present—and who shouldn't be?

The featured speaker of the evening will be Dr. Arthur W. Easton of Norway, and his topic will be concerned with the fluoridation of public water supplies. As this will again be an issue at our next town meeting, it is important that as many as possible attend and profit from Dr. Easton's vast experience on the matter. It was through his untiring efforts and leadership that Norway became the first community in Maine to institute fluoridation of their water supply.

Dr. Easton is undoubtedly the most widely known and best respected dentist in Maine. His achievements are too numerous to list in their entirety but among them are Past President of Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association, and presently is serving as the first Maine dentist to represent the District as Trustee of the American Dental Association. Although his primary interest lies in the dental field, he has always been active in church and civic affairs in Norway and is the president of the Norway National Bank.

The P. T. A. and the Health and Service Council strongly urge each family of the community to be well represented at this first meeting of 1958 for both organizations. Their success throughout the remainder of the year depends on YOU.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

MAINE POTATO WEEK PLANNED FEB. 9-13

Maine potato will be schooled on the food value and quality of native grown potatoes for the third year in a row as Maine Potato Week, sponsored by the Maine Department of Agriculture and Maine Potato Commission, gets underway February 9 through 13.

Serving as a sort of salute to the State's second largest agricultural industry, Potato Week will feature stories in Maine newspapers and programs on the State's radio and television stations. Also cooperating in the campaign will be Maine grocery stores, restaurants, and hotels who will offer special displays and dishes of this most famous of all

The vital importance of following the example of the Master, Christ Jesus, in our thoughts and actions will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science services.

Hilfe's section "And he said unto them, go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15).

Build A Better World

"If I made a universe, I certainly would do a better job than God seems to have done on this one." Those are the words of a teacher at a grammar school in London, Hyde Park, in England.

The crowd began to laugh, excited by the discrediting of the speaker. But he raised his hand to arrest their laughter. "You have a good point there, Doctor," he conceded. "But would you mind just for the time being to establish our confidence? Now about your creation can I talk about?"

There are few people who do not think they could build a better universe if they had the opportunity. But that is a mighty big "if." I once thought I might just change the world when I read an article by Marguerite Muller in which she said "I accept the challenge."

"Accept what?" was Carlyle's question.

"Change the world," she said. "If I could just do it right, that would be changed and they can be changed. They need no change, for they are all the sort of people."

She was a little nervous about saying that we could have done better, too, on the other side than we did. She was a good girl, though. Very good to change, for they are all the sort of people."

We used to have a little school about saying that we could have done better, too, on the other side than we did. She was a good girl, though. Very good to change, for they are all the sort of people."

GASOLINE TAXES IN 5 DAYS

By Jan. 8, the taxes on gasoline paid by Maine highway users reached the sum of $302,000—as much as was once collected in gas tax revenues in Maine in a whole year.

This was pointed out by Leroy T. Snowdon, Executive Secretary of the Maine Petroleum Association, in commenting on present estimates that Maine's 7-cent state gasoline tax will take in $21.6 million during 1958, while the 2-cent federal tax will swell the total tax cost to motorists in this state to a predicted $30.7 million.

This he noted, means that Maine highway users are now pouring gas tax revenues into the state and federal tax coffers at the rate of $1 million every 14 days, or as much in eight days as Maine's original 1-cent gas tax brought in during a whole year following its enactment in 1923. The federal tax was not added until 1932.

"This 58-fold increase in annual gas tax revenues can be explained partly by the fact that there are now 3.1 times as many motor vehicles in Maine as there were in 1923, but it must also be noted that the present combined tax rate is now 10 times as high," Snowdon said. He added:

"An interesting thing about gasoline is that this is one product on which the price today, excluding taxes, is actually lower than it was back in the '20's." He noted that in 1920 the average price of regular gasoline was 32.7 cents a gallon.

Today motorists are getting a far better quality of gasoline for less, but taxes now add 50 percent to the cost.

GOULD ACADEMY

Gould Team Playing Away
The Gould Academy varsity will travel to Old Orchard Friday to meet the Eagles in their annual game. For years the Huskies were untouchable, but in recent years the Seawiders have been racking up wins and they are favored to come through with another victory this season. The Academy dropped its first four games before coming through with its first win, this one over the Mexico Pintos in the preholiday schedule.

The Gould team will be entertained with a dinner before the game and will be guests for the night of the Old Orchard club. It is one trip Gould looks forward to and one which the Beach team also enjoys in alternate years.

On Tuesday the Huskies will again travel, this time to meet the Porter High team of Kesar Falls.

The Porter High team won over

Gould last year and the Huskies will be trying to even the count. The Gould J.V.'s will be idle until Jan. 17 when both clubs will travel to Farmington to meet the Greyhounds.

NEVER FOR CHILDREN

From Civic League Report
That the Brewing Industry in Maine has sunk to a new low may be seen on the front page of this column. They now provide beer available for children, which is sometimes referred to as "Near Beer."

Maine Law says that "Liquor-fermented or other alcoholic beverage intended for human consumption, which contains more than 1 per cent of alcohol by volume..."

This co-called "Near Beer" has an alcohol content of a little under 1 per cent. It contains enough "beverage alcohol" to have its effects on children.

This is being sold in Maine. Any child who can buy a loaf of bread or a yeast cake can buy this beverage. Many places are selling it for the "soda" with the other "sodas." It is another "gimmick" of the brewers to get money from children, regardless of the impression they make, and regardless of the fact they may be setting them up to join the army of alcoholics we already have in Maine.

This is real beer, regardless of the label, from real breweries... with the smell, taste, appearance, and what poured out, it carries the same ads on the top.

It is evidently not the intention to get any child "drunk" but rather to set them up psychologically, and to create an appetite, to be ready victims for the product when they reach the age.

The Maine Legislature was asked in 1957 to ban the sale of this product. The Liquor Lobby at Augusta was able to persuade the legislators was not advisable. They argued that it was not being sold in Maine. The Liquor Lobby, which has proven itself to be the most powerful at Augusta, was able to defeat the bill.

It is understood that an attempt will be made to introduce the measure again at the Special session beginning January 15, 1958. If this is so, will you contact your Legislators to support the measure? The liquor interests may be powerful enough with the legislature to defeat it. It is an emergency measure.

How low can an industry crawl? Making such a play for children seems they have reached the depths. Please this abhorrent product on sale along with the ordinary soft drinks, which children do makes the industry even more odious!

Please contact your legislator about this abhorrent matter.

MAN'S RECIPECHICKEN

I am a considerate son, 28 years old, and generally pleased with those others thank goodness, they are all stronger than I. It would be an impossible situation to be a considerate son and have three older sisters. The sisters are all very able and articulate women and they can't get over the fact that I am learning to cook.

I don't pretend to judge myself but I am sure that whatever faults of intuition and persistence I have today are due to my beloved sisters. Any boy who can get at the cookie jar with remarkable frequency (in spite of three well-appointed wardrobes) is bound to develop certain qualities that will help one along life's trail.

Here is our favorite method with chicken. For a two and a half to three pounds, cut into serving pieces. Wash and wipe the pieces. Place them in a large pan of water and heat it to room temperature. Cover and simmer slowly. Spread on the skin side of the pieces.

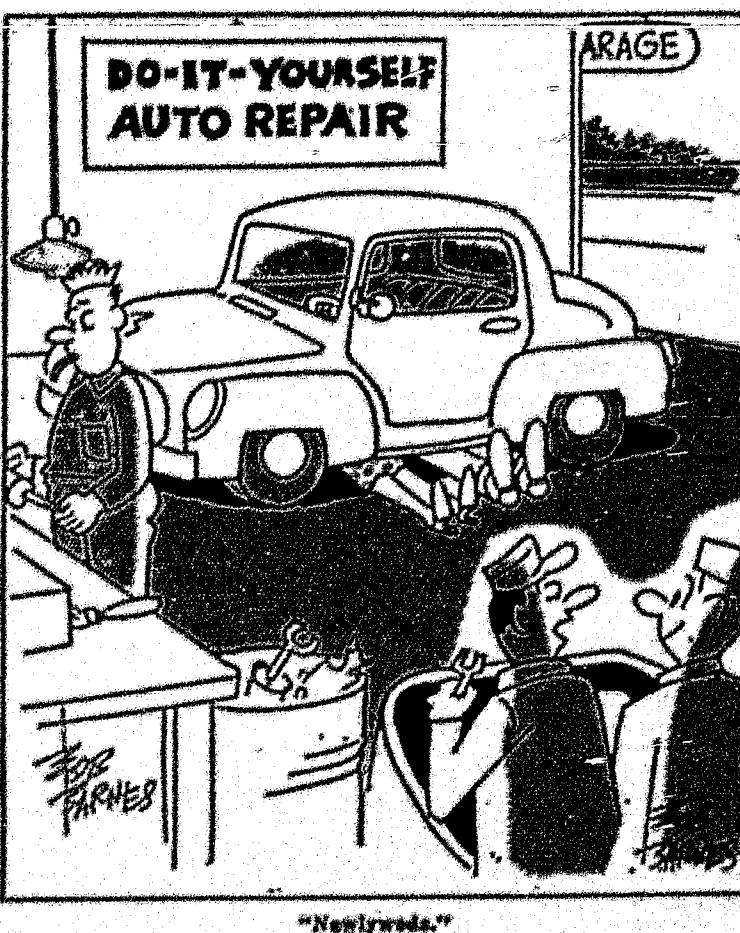

Cut a paper bag just three inches down, one half teaspoon salt and a dash of either pepper or paprika. Shake this together to mix it. Now add the chicken pieces to the paper bag at the top and shake until each chicken piece is evenly coated.

Place the chicken in a shallow dish or baking pan. Put in oven, turn on 350°. Roast about 45 minutes or until done. This is enough if the pieces do not seem sufficiently brown. If you want to go to 500 or 525 degrees for a shorter time, reduce the heat but take in mind chicken the way I like it.

ARMED FAMILIES IN AREA ANALYZING PROBLEMS

A number of farm families in Oxford and Androscoggin counties are taking a second look at their farm and home records, getting ready to analyze the past year's operations and work out plans for the coming year. Elwyn St. Morrow, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration reported this week.

He explained that help with year-end analysis as a basis for next year's planning is part of the farm management help that goes with most Farmers Home Administration loans. Farm families using the agency's credit develop long-time farm and home plans when they apply for loans to buy, enlarge, or operate their farms, or make certain adjustments and improvements.

At the beginning of each year's operations they make annual plans based on what they intend to accomplish during the year.

The county supervisor supplies each family with a simple farm and home record book as part of the farm management aid. When necessary, he shows the family how to keep track of income, costs, results of specific operations, debt payments, and other items that are parts of the business of farming.

At the end of the farming year, the farmer and his wife find out in the year-end review of operations the first meetings were held in December. Much of the county supervisor's time until February 15 is devoted to their part of the agency's farm management services.

Mr. Morrow said approximately ninety-five families in Oxford and Androscoggin county will take part in the year-end review of operations. The first meetings were held in December. Much of the county supervisor's time until February 15 is devoted to their part of the agency's farm management services.

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US TELL YOU HOW OTHERS ARE DOING IT

BY JOHN AND JANE STRICKLAND

PROBLEM: Companionable

A PROBLEM that besets many A mated couple was solved in a simple way by Matthew Jordan who lives on Route 4, Savannah, Georgia.

Life to Matthew was an interesting journey. One time it also had been interesting to his wife. But as their children grew up, married and went away to live their own lives, she took less and less interest in her own.

Matthew found his work increasingly interesting for its embodied sciences, in which interest never waned. He would go home at night tired, ready for a good meal followed by relaxation around an open fire in the winter, or the front porch in summer. During his relaxing periods, however, he pondered some of his scientific problems, and he says, "I'm afraid I wasn't a very interesting companion."

His wife, her household duties at end for some twelve or fourteen years, had nothing to do but mind, sew, read or listen to the radio (this was before television had become a general pastime). Gradually his wife became less and less interested in life, even the meals which she once served with such care had become monotonous and less appetizing. "This," says Matthew, "is conducive to others outside the home becoming more interesting, and which often results in the breaking up of a home, a hurried and sometimes regretted second marriage." He doesn't want this to happen to him; he does something about it.

First, he studied his wife. Living out of town, she was beyond the range of daily social activity, and he used their one car to go back and forth to his work. An efficient person, she easily finished her day's work without being too tired. She even had time to tend a flower garden. But after dinner she was in a mood for a little pleasure, which he considered himself too tired to share with her.

But he decided to change his habits, and this solved his problem, saved their marriage, and again they had a happy home life.

How did he do this? He merely set aside two evenings a week for his wife's pleasure. On these evenings they went to see a moving picture, called on friends, invited friends in to see them.

It wasn't a month before his wife showed her old charming spirit. "And," says Matthew, "I found myself getting a great deal more out of life by stepping out of my routine."

For the past three years Matt has taught at Club Congress in the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, which has provided the award for 22 years.

After four years in 4-H, Keith discovered how electricity would help his other projects. He made three sheep and a cat trellis. Keith plays in the 4-H orchestra and the Foothills High boys' band. He played at both the Eastern and Western Maine Music Festivals.

Keith says that the 4-H Electric program "is like Kite Flying except for a boy to take a kite and to teach another boy to fly it and other things which all help to teach the boys to be better people."

The 4-H Boys' Better Boy Award, a week in Illinois, was won this year by Dennis Law, 10, of Wiscasset.

Her dual role as organizer and model helped Dennis win this honor. The Community Patterns Co sponsored his trip, and was host to Dennis and girls from 12 other states.

Dennis received her whistling ensemble at the girls' style show.
